Pet Sitting to The MAX Doggie Daycare Application

After successful completion of the Doggie Daycare Temperament Assessment, please complete this application.

I agree if my dog's vaccines are not current, my dog will not be allowed into the daycare, for the safety of my dog and other dogs at the daycare. I understand that I must bring:

- a. this completed application packet
- . the monthly flea prevention treatment my dog is/will be on
- b. proof of spay/neuter status
- . proof of fecal exam & negative results
- c. proof of current vaccines:
 - i. Rabies (every 1 or 3 years depending on age)
 - ii. Distemper and Parvovirus (i.e. DAP, DAPP, DA2PP, DHLPP – every 1 to 3 years)
 - iii. Leptospirosis (every 1 year)
 - iv. Canine Influenza Virus (Bivalent 1st & 2nd vaccinations, then every year)
 - v. Bordetella (must be renewed every 6 months)

Kennel cough (Bordetella) is most commonly caused by a bacteria called Bordetellabronchiseptica, which irritates the lining of the dog's trachea. This irritation causes the dog to cough and hack. Sometimes dogs with kennel cough will show no other signs of discomfort and they will eat, play and behave normally – except for the cough. It is possible for your dog to get kennel cough at Pet Sitting to The MAX Doggie Daycare
– we want to avoid that situation by requiring that all dogs attending daycare with us,

Common Doggie Daycare Risks

In considering Doggie Daycare for your dog, please be aware of common risks associated with numerous dogs in close proximity and locations where illnesses are common (i.e. dog parks, city parks, walking and hiking trails, bodies of water, running water and stagnant water).

Daycare dogs may be more susceptible to illnesses, especially during puppy and adolescent stages. While they do build up immunity to illnesses as their immune system gets stronger, it does not guarantee that they will not be exposed to common daycare illnesses such as Kennel Cough, Giardia. If your dog is showing any symptoms of illness (such as vomiting, diarrhea, persistent cough), or does not seem to be feeling well in general, please do not bring them to daycare. If your dog(s) arrive(s) at daycare and show any of these symptoms, we must send your dog(s) home right away.

While we follow a very strict daily cleaning and sanitation procedure, we cannot guarantee your dog will not contract Kennel Cough, Giardia or other illnesses. If you would like more detailed information on the illnesses your dog may come in contact with at daycare, please consult with your veterinarian.

Minor bumps and scratches from playing with other dogs are common at any daycare facility. Pet Sitting To The MAX's staff monitor all play and intervene when play escalates, but does not guarantee your dog may not come home with a few marks or scratches from play. We advise against sending your dog to daycare with very expensive or valuable collars as the daycare can be a very playful environment and collars may become damaged during play.
